As a deflationary meme token, ITs CORN (ICN) has an initial total supply of 100,000,000,000 ICN. This deflationary mechanism ensures that the supply of ICN decreases over time, leading to potential scarcity and increasing the value of the token. This feature can make ITs CORN an attractive investment option for those looking to participate in the meme token market.

Join the ITs CORN community today and become part of an enthusiastic group of supporters who appreciate the fun and innovation that memes bring to the world of cryptocurrencies.

05 Community-driven Governance

06 Automatic Liquidity Provision

- We facilitate the transaction and bring them closer to a wider audience. An added benefit of use is that it's completely decentralized, so trading can be done freely across borders.
- This also has a huge effect on international payment fees. Traditionally international transfers have much higher fees than domestic transfers and payments. International payments and transfers with crypto are the same as domestic.
- So we are here to help you with everything you need.

Reflection Mechanism

The token employs a reflection mechanism, whereby holders passively earn rewards by holding ICN in their wallets. This is achieved through a fee distribution process. Whenever a transaction occurs, a portion of the transaction fee is distributed proportionally to all token holders. By holding our token, you automatically make money over time.

Anti-Whale Measures

To prevent large holders from exerting too much influence on the token's price and market, we have implemented anti-whale measures. These measures include limits on the maximum amount of tokens that can be transacted in a single transaction and the maximum number of tokens that can be held in a wallet. Plus we have included anti-bot cool down periods.

Automatic Liquidity Provision

A liquidity pool is created and maintained to ensure there is always enough liquidity for smooth trading. Whenever a transaction occurs, a portion of the transaction fee is automatically converted into liquidity and added to the pool. This feature enhances price stability and enables seamless trading.

Community-driven Governance

We believe in the power of community governance. Token holders are actively involved in decision-making processes such as proposing and voting on important matters related to the token's future development, partnerships, and initiatives. With your support the future and commitment to the project the possibilities are endless.

BUT WAIT THERE'S MORE!

Staking feature built into contract

Staking is a feature in cryptocurrency contracts that enables users to lock a certain amount of tokens for a specified period and participate in the network's consensus mechanism. By staking tokens, users contribute to the network's security and stability, earning rewards in return. These rewards are distributed proportionally to each staker's stake. Staking offers passive income, network security, governance participation, and can contribute to token price stability. The specific staking mechanisms may vary, but generally, users stake tokens, participate in consensus, and can later unstake their tokens along with earned rewards.

Anti-Rug Measure

Anti-rug measures have been built into the contract these security features incorporated into cryptocurrency contracts to safeguard users against fraudulent activities like rug pulls. These measures include liquidity locking, ownership renouncement, KYC, AMA, community governance, code audits, transparency through open-source code, and the implementation of timelock mechanisms. By locking liquidity, renouncing ownership, involving the community in decision-making, conducting code audits, maintaining transparency, and introducing timelocks, these measures enhance the contract's security, protect users' funds, and foster trust within the ecosystem.

Burn function

Built into the contract is a burn function that permanently removes or destroys a certain number of tokens from circulation. When executed, the burn function eliminates the selected tokens by sending them to an address or smart contract from which they cannot be accessed or recovered. This process effectively reduces the total supply of tokens in the ecosystem, leading to a deflationary effect. The burn function is often utilized to control inflation, increase scarcity, or enhance the value of the remaining tokens by creating a limited supply.
